In 2018, Russia reported on the Disaster Resilience for Pacific SIDS (RESPAC) project financed through the Russian Federation-UNDP Trust Fund for Development. The overall project goal is to effectively address the consequences of, and responses to, climate-related natural hazards. The outcome will be achieved through three outputs (also referred to as components): 1. Strengthened early warning systems and climate monitoring capacity; 2. Preparedness and planning mechanisms and tools to manage disaster recovery processes strengthened at regional, national and local level; 3. Increased use of financial instruments to manage and share disaster related risk and fund post disaster recovery efforts. Duration of the project: 2016-2019. Funding from Russia: $7.5 million. Partners: Tokelau, Cook Islands, Federated States of Micronesia, Fiji, Kiribati, Marshall Islands, Nauru, Niue, Palau, Papua New Guinea, Samoa, Solomon Islands, Tonga, Tuvalu and Vanuatu.
